Dear Members and Friends of the ACP,

Warm greetings to you as we move through the preparations, anticipations and expectations of this season of Advent. One of the family traditions that we have taken with us wherever we are in the world is to set up a Christmas tree on the first Sunday of Advent, and light Advent candles each week to mark the time as we eagerly long for the coming of Christ anew into our lives and world. Advent, as you know, is the Latin word for “coming,” and in this season we remember the coming of Christ two thousand years ago in the incarnation of Jesus; we look forward to how the Christ will come again in power and glory one day to consummate and gather all things into his loving Kingdom rule; and we reflect on how he might again be born in us this day. I also think it is important for us as a community of faith to consider how Jesus calls us to embody his “Advent” to the rest of the world.

We are living in “interesting times” (as the Chinese curse goes!) and we as a congregation are exploring and experimenting in the coming year about what it means to “seek the shalom of the city” (Jeremiah 29:7). What does shalom really look like, and what are we doing in our lives and in our community to pursue the healing, wholeness, and flourishing shalom God intends for all people? As I wrote about in the Advent Devotional, one of my favorite family traditions during the season of Advent is to set up various Nativity scenes. We have brought nativities from different countries where we’ve lived and received as gifts from friends from other cultures, so it’s a visual reminder that our savior came for all the peoples of the world.

One of the characters that I’ve never seen included in a nativity set, but who always shows up in Advent, is John the Baptist! We read in Matthew 3:1-3, “In those days John the Baptist appeared in the wilderness of Judea, proclaiming, ‘Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near.’ This is the one of whom the prophet Isaiah spoke when he said, ‘The voice of one crying out in the wilderness: ‘Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.’” The prophet of old reminds us that preparing for the coming of our Lord is not just about setting up the tree, admiring the amazing lights all around the city, and getting our Christmas shopping done in good time. Advent, like Lent, is the “holiday” season that focuses us on the important work of repentance. Purple is the color of repentance.

We need to remember, paradoxically, in order for us to welcome the Prince of Peace anew into our lives and families, church, city, and world, we need to change our thinking about what God’s shalom is really like. And the first obvious thing, as hard as this is to hear, is that biblical shalom is not about an absence of conflict! John the Baptist himself is a grisly reminder that faithful living can even be dangerous to your health! As the activist Catholic priest Daniel Berrigan once wryly said, “If you’re going to follow Jesus, you better look good on wood!” John, of course, was beheaded by King Herod.

There is a spirit of this age that seems to be catching a lot of people up in the desire to “make our nation great again” and a longing for the “good old days.” I’ll never forget one of my African-American friend’s challenging response to that longing: “Good for whom?” he asked. The paradox and the prophetic word of the Kingdom of God breaking into our world in Jesus Christ, as the greatness, goodness, and true glory of God’s redemption is for all people! And so we in the church must repent, indeed turn away from the glittering temptation of power, prestige, and privilege, and turn toward our Prince of Peace who calls us to sacrificial love, to the way of self-emptying love and grace, compassion and justice.

Especially in this season of world events, Advent requires more repentance (literally “change of thinking”) about the fulness of the gospel, and how Christ comes into our world anew and to whom? Surely...

Jesus calls us to live with hope, joy and love toward a shalom that is for all people – even the other, the unloved and excluded ones? Indeed the coming of God’s Kingdom may cause temporary conflict and disagreement, but that is part of the Christmas story that we also need to remember... that the Christ we worship and honor in this season, was “born a child, and yet a King” whose purple robe and crown was strangely yet fully revealed on the cross. From birth, baby Jesus was seen as a threat, and provoked the “massacre of the innocents” by King Herod.

I look forward to all of the events and beautiful celebrations of this season of Advent and Christmas, but forgive me that I can’t forget John the Baptist, who seems to intrude with an especially loud cry this year and leaves me questioning, what does it mean for us to “prepare the way of the Lord,” and to “make his paths straight”?

Pondering the glad tidings again with you,

In Christ

The many emotions of marriage

By Visiting Pastor Bruce Morgan

Many people do not realize that The American Church of Paris offers Vow Renewals as part of its Wedding Ministry offerings. During my six months at ACP this year, I will officiate at seven vow renewals, and about ninety wedding blessings. I have discovered that there is a different emotional quality to the vow renewal ceremonies, which are a re-enactment of a wedding ceremony, but with different language to reflect a renewed commitment to the vows taken in the past – 10, 20, 25, 40 years ago.

The couple has an opportunity in this ceremony to share personal words of gratitude to their spouse, for the years they have shared together; and I never cease to be amazed at the deeply held feelings of love and affection that are beautifully and tenderly exchanged. Tears abound. Embraces last and last. A sense of profound gratitude for a love that has matured through their years of marriage is the common thread I hear expressed.

Wedding blessing ceremonies are virtually all joyous and full of broad smiles, sprinkled with frequent moist eyes or tearful vows. But wedding days are also often anxious, nervous, tense times as well, with the focus more on the ceremony than the new bond that is being formed by the wedding ceremony.

So they are very different from vow renewals, in which couples have survived struggle and celebrated intimacy and discovered in marriage a bond that enriches and supports each other, in amazingly rich ways. We know that marriage can often be a fragile union, and that many do not survive. So, it is heartening to see marriages that have flourished and illustrated what marriage is meant to be: a union of hearts and spirits so strong and committed, that years later, they can celebrate the joy of marriage union, and renew their commitment to one another in a vow renewal in our beautiful ACP sanctuary, in a service of great beauty and meaning.

We believe that the love of God is the force that helps marriage endure. We give God the glory in every service for providing a quality of love in marriage that makes marriage commitment thrive. We cannot do this alone. God alone, as the author of the love that is fully expressed in the person of Jesus Christ, can both teach us how to love and be the God who “first loved us, so that we can love one another.”

I wish to thank ACP for giving me the privilege of serving, once again, as Visiting Pastor. This third time with you – the congregation and the staff of ACP – has been a great privilege, and a rich part of my life in ministry. It has filled my retirement years with boundless fulfillment and great joy. With mixed feelings, we leave Paris on 2 January, to return to our life and family in Kansas City, MO. We look forward to meeting our new grandson who was born on 12 November, and to seeing the rest of our family in the US; but we shall miss all of you at ACP greatly. Thankfully, you have a permanent place in Nancy’s and my hearts, and we shall pray for you and think of you daily. God be with you!

In Christ,
Bruce W. Morgan

Sunday Women’s Fellowship
Sunday, 22 January
12h15-13h30, Thurber Room

Ring in the new year with us! Alexia Rabé will be sharing her beautiful music and joy for Christ as she leads the January women’s fellowship meeting, 12h15-13h30 in the Thurber Room. Come and enjoy praising our gracious, loving God together.

Remember, free childcare is available on the basement level.
We welcome back Reverend Jeff Powell as Visiting Pastor in charge of weddings, accompanied by his wife, Alba.

Dr. Powell was ordained in 1976 and served as a pastor in four Presbyterian congregations in Southern California. In 1992 he and Alba began their ministry to international English-speaking congregations and he served as Pastor/Head of Staff at the Tokyo Union Church (1992-1997), the American Church in London (1997-2001) and the United Community Church of Buenos Aires (2003-2006). During his ministry he specialized in the areas of evangelism and congregational renewal. In 2002, while on sabbatical, he served his first six months as the “wedding pastor” here.

Alba Powell was born in Guatemala and grew up as an active member of a Presbyterian Church there. She trained as a primary school teacher and holds a masters degree in Social Work. She is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker in the US and has worked for California Children’s Services, the Tokyo Counseling Center and has done counseling in private practice. She has served the church as a Deacon, Sunday School teacher and co-director of the Logos Youth Club.

Pastor Jeff recently retired, and he and Alba live in Seal Beach, CA. They have three children and three grandchildren. They are both delighted to be back in town and involved again in ACP ministry.

Join us for our first Thurber Thursday lecture of 2017 on Tuesday, 17 January at 19h00 with Rev. Cleve Tinsley IV and Rev. Matthew Russell to discuss their vision and work for shalom in Houston, Texas.

Rev. Cleve V. Tinsley IV is an ordained Baptist minister, scholar, and community activist based in Houston. Currently he serves as Theologian-in-Residence at St. John's United Methodist Church-Downtown in Houston. Rev. Tinsley is also a PhD candidate in the Department of Religion at Rice University where his academic research explores critical understandings of the wider social scientific and historical approaches to the study of religion in general and African-American religion in particular.

Rev. Matt Russell is currently on staff at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Houston, Texas as the Senior Associate and is the Executive Director of projectCURATE, which is a grassroots educational and social enterprise incubator.

The Longest Night

Billy Roberts
Director, Youth and Young Adult Ministries

“My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from saving me, so far from my cries of anguish? My God, I cry out by day, but you do not answer, by night, but I find no rest.” – Psalm 22:1-2

The lights shine brightly on the streets of Paris during the holiday season, and in no place is it brighter than along the Champs-Élysées as people from all over walk gleefully taking in the sights, sounds, and spirit of the joyous Christmas season.

The only problem is that it’s not joyous for everyone.

It’s the first year without a loved one.
It’s a reminder of a failed relationship.
It’s the depression you just can’t shake.
It’s the pervasive feeling of loneliness.

With cruel irony, the “Most Wonderful Time of the Year” is, for many people, the most difficult and gut-wrenching season of all. While people are feeling festive and excited for the holidays, it takes an enormous amount of strength for others to endure it all.

As we reflect on a season that can be difficult for so many people, I am reminded of Paul’s words to “rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep.” In our moments of sadness sometimes what we need is someone to sit with us and allow us to feel the lament of loss, the sadness of loneliness, and the pain of uncertainty. It is when we face the darkness that we can move through it.

In this season of Advent, we spend a lot of time focused on waiting and expectation. We believe that in the end things will be made whole. We believe that Christ will redeem creation and is in the process of doing so now, but we also know that we are not there yet. Though hope is on the horizon, sin and death create all sorts of problems.

And so, we carry each other. We allow for God’s healing to come through the recognition of our emotions, both light and dark.

Our hope is that The Longest Night service will be a time for those in our congregation and our community in Paris to find a place to wrestle with the darker side of the holidays. When everything screams “Be happy!” we listen to those marginalized voices who lament “How long, oh Lord?”

But we do so remembering what the word Emmanuel means. The gospel writers are clear that one of the names for Jesus is Emmanuel, meaning “God with us.” And while it quite literally meant, for Jesus’ day, that God was with the people, for us today it means that God is with us in our moments of joy and our seasons of grief.

We invite you, whether this is a joyous time or this is a laborious occasion, to join us on 21 December at 20h for a moment to stop during the busyness of the holiday season to reflect on what it means that God is with us.

And whether you feel a time of happiness or a time of sorrow may we join together in saying “Come thou long-expected Jesus.”

Serve the City Mission Project

The Serve the City Mission Project is distributing food donated by Prêt à Manger to the needy. There are now nearly 20 American Church volunteers serving up to 150 meals five days a week to the less fortunate in and around Paris. Additional volunteers are needed to help pick up sandwiches from the Prêt à Manger’s Neuilly-sur-Seine shop at 8h and distribute them to homeless people. Come join the team and help us Serve the City! Contact parisservethecity@gmail.com.
The Annie Vallotton Christian Lending Library is open to all members and filled with wonderful Christian materials for every age. A wide range of books, DVDs, videos and CDs are all available to help you and your family grow in Christ.

The library is in room G4, basement level, directly across from the elevator. Faithful volunteers open the library on Sundays before and after the 11h and 13h30 services. The library is free and available to all; however, donations are welcome.

Most items may be checked out for three weeks; DVDs are only for a week at a time. Returns can be made directly to the library or at the ACP reception desk, where there is a library drop-off box.

If you have questions or comments, please feel free to contact us at lendinglibrary@acparis.org.

We hope to see you. Happy reading, and be blessed!

You may have heard of our mission work in Pune, India, and the Deep Griha Society (DGS). For the last two and a half years I’ve been organizing mission trips from Paris to India as part of the ACP Mission Outreach Committee, with much-appreciated support from the congregation. Now I’m finally going to return, to devote myself full-time to Deep Griha.

One of the things I will start with is a project to create school uniforms. My mission statement is:

To find and to give financial and technical support to women in the slums, to empower them in the building of their own business, that of stitching the school uniforms for the sponsored children of Deep Griha programs. These include children from slums, from the City of Child orphanage, and from the Deep Griha rural school.

It is a long-term program, and my first step will be to teach the uniform-stitching process to the staff of Deep Griha Income Generation Program.

The second step will be for these women to teach in their turn the women living in DGS slum communities. They will need financial support for supplies and sewing machines, as well as organization skills-building. Everything is still to be done. For now, DGS has an old ping-pong table for cutting the fabric and two old manual sewing machines!

I am so excited by this project! It will enable poor Indian women to make school uniforms for poor children, supported by generous foreign sponsors. What a beautiful and meaningful chain of love in action.

So I am eager to move back to Pune and begin the first stitching lesson of the uniform shirt that I have just learned to sew! Thanks to my French friend Veronique who taught me the assembly process.

But moving out means... out of my current life in Paris that has been enlightened by so many friends, sisters and brothers in Christ: YOU!

So with bittersweet feelings, I invite you to come by and see me after church on Sunday 22 January after the 9h00 and 11h services, in the Theatre, where I will be saying good bye to everybody and sharing cakes. If you would like to support this school uniform project, your help would be warmly appreciated.

May the will of God be done with all this and the poor of Pune be blessed. They are already blessed even if life is tough for them, because Jesus loves them, this I know.

The Alpha Course kicks-off in the New Year with a free Launch Party on 12 January at 19h30. It then runs weekly from Thursday 19 January with a meal at 19h00 followed by a video talk and small group discussions. We’ll be watching the new Alpha film series, released in May 2016 by Alpha International, featuring the course’s creator, Rev. Nick Gumbel, and interviews with Bear Grylls, Jackie Pullinger and Father Raniero Cantalamessa, among others. The video talks will take us on a journey around the globe as we explore the meaning of life and ask challenging questions about the Christian faith.

The course is open to everyone and is a great opportunity to ask questions and learn more about the Christian faith in a relaxed, informal and friendly environment. It is also perfect to invite friends, family, neighbours and colleagues to.

How can I support the course?

There are many ways that you can be involved with Alpha. One really important way is to invite people along - a personal invite is most effective and easy to do, so take the plunge and ask a friend if he/she would like to accompany you to the Launch Party. You can find invites in the bulletin on Sundays throughout December or stop by the Alpha table after the worship services.

Another way to support Alpha is through prayer. Please keep the Guests and the team in your prayers throughout the course. You could also volunteer to serve as part of the kitchen team preparing the meal. Many hands make light work and we are looking to put together a kitchen team. Even just volunteering to serve for 1 week would be an enormous help!

Is there more to life than this? Join us each Thursday night at 19h30 and let’s find out together. Over 29 million people around the world have done Alpha – have you?

For more information, please contact alpha@acparis.org. Details about the course are available via the website at acparis.org and our social media channels.

What’s up in Paris

December/January event listings

By Karen Albrecht

'Tis the season to enjoy some amazing art
This December and January the city’s cultural venues truly have something for everyone.

The Spectacular Second Empire, 1852-1870

The reign of Napoléon III produced some of Paris’s most iconic landmarks, and its atmosphere of opulence and ostentation in some ways exemplifies France at its most French. On display at the Musée d’Orsay are grandiloquent portraits of the emperor and his entourage, vast canvases recording lavish imperial ceremonies, over-the-top furniture and a look at the dazzling public art events that marked this curious yet pivotal time in the nation’s history.

The Age of Anxiety: American painting in the 1930s

Organized in partnership with Chicago’s star-studded Art Institute, this superb show features 60 paintings exemplifying the transitional and highly charged decade just before World War II. Grant Wood’s iconic, gently ironic “American Gothic” and the hyper realistic yet hauntingly emotional cityscapes by Edward Hopper speak volumes, and resonate deeply today, in an age that is so different, yet so tied up in similar and equally wrenching tensions.

Mexique 1900-1950

This colorful retrospective features 200 works by key 20th-century Mexican artists. The country’s bloody 1910-1920 Revolution looms large, with a look at both the before and the after. The show also explores cross-pollination with US and European avant-garde movements. But the ambiguous, symbol-laden self-portraits by feminist icon Frida Kahlo definitely steal the show, rivaled by the exuberant creations of Diego Rivera, the celebrated muralist whom Kahlo married, divorced and remarried.

The Body in Movement

The Louvre’s "Petite Galerie" targets the younger generation, but its current exhibit is a visual and intellectual treat for all ages. Dance is the starting point, with star choreographer Benjamin Millepied as one of the curators, and gorgeous sculptures of dancers from antiquity to Degas’s graceful ballerinas at its center. The study of movement spans out to include depictions of wrestlers, running figures, and even hovering angels, drawn from a vast range of periods and civilizations.

Until 3 July, petitegalerie.louvre.fr

MMM: Matthieu Chedid rencontre Martin Parr

After Bowie and Velvet Underground, the imposing new Philharmonie complex in La Villette is hosting another very cool show exploring the intersection between music, photography, and pop culture. This time it’s an encounter between oddball British photographer Martin Parr and the flamboyant yet surprisingly soulful French rocker Matthieu Chedid. 500 colorful snaps display Parr’s wickedly satirical yet oddly affectionate vision of human foibles, to the tune of original music by Chedid.

Until 29 January, philharmoniedeparis.fr

Beautiful Planet

Need to step back and get some perspective on worldly cares, holiday frenzy and, yes, even the surfeit of amazing art this city bombards us with? Enter La Géode’s 180° surround-screen Imax theater and join the astronauts aboard the International Space Station in marveling at the beauty of the amazing planet God gave us all. A breathtaking, humbling, and inspiring ride.

Women meet on Saturdays

Women's monthly Saturday Fellowship

Come and fellowship in the Spirit! One Saturday a month, all sisters in Christ are welcome to join this potluck gathering. All you need to do is show up -- no fee, no registration. We hope to see you! For more information, please contact Elodie Mbette at elodieruth@aol.com.

Saturday 14 January 14h-17h - ACP, Room G1

Women's monthly Saturday Bible Study

Once a month Elodie Mbette will lead a Bible study with the theme “Love as a daily decision, action, and commitment: a reflection on love” based on 1 Corinthians 13. Come join us! For more information, please contact Elodie Mbette at elodieruth@aol.com.

Saturday 28 January 15h-17h - ACP, Room G2

Prayer Chain Team

Do you have a prayer request for our Prayer Team?

If so, please forward your prayer by e-mail to prayerrequests@acparis.org.

Your prayer request will remain strictly private and confidential.

Prayer is powerful. We are here for you.

If you would like someone to pray with you after services, a Prayer Team member is available.

Meet in the chapel next to the theater.

30 Plus Adult Fellowship

First Friday of each month, from 8pm on 30 Plus singles and pairs, join us for fellowship once a month in a lounge cafe setting; sharing testimonies, talking about the highs and lows of your life, with brothers and sisters in Christ.

This is an adult fellowship in which anyone over 30 (so that also means if you're in your 50s, 60s or 70s!) is welcome to have a drink and talk, and more specifically, take the time to go into deeper and more meaningful conversations. This means taking the time that we don't have during coffee hour or Thurber Thursdays, for example, when we miss out on forming and deepening friendships! It’s a time for everyone to really open up, to not only share our joys and blessings, but also our struggles and wounds.

Pastor Tim is the liaison pastor. Couples are welcome and are encouraged to mingle.

First Friday of each month at Au père tranquille, 1st floor
16 rue Pierre Lescot 75001 across main entrance Les Halles

What are your 2017 Resolutions?

Are you called to serve on the ACP Council?

By Mark Primmer and Marie Grout

All members of ACP are eligible to serve on Council. A candidate must have a desire to serve, the time to devote to the responsibilities of the position, and the skills for the position in question. Are you being called?

What is the ACP Council?
The American Church in Paris is governed by our Pastors and our Council members. Every month the Council meets to share information, and make decisions on the direction and activities of the church. Each Committee is represented at Council by a Chair and Vice Chair.

Apart from the Pastors, there are 18 elected members of Council who represent seven Council Committees and the Executive Committee. Each Council position is for a one-year term, with a maximum of three consecutive years on Council. The good news is that most Council members stay on Council for three years. This gives continuity and stability to the governance of ACP. Ideally, not all positions fall vacant at the same time.

Which Council positions will be vacant?
In May, ACP will have a Congregational Meeting in order to elect members to serve as the ACP Council for the 2017-2018 Council year. While the Nominating Committee is working to prepare the slate of candidates for this election, it is known that the following Council positions will become vacant this year and need to be filled:

Vice Moderator
Council Secretary
Human Resources - Vice Chair
Worship and Music - Chair and Vice Chair

In view of our congregation's dynamic and continually evolving nature, other vacancies may emerge and need replacing.

What does the Nominating Committee do?
It is the responsibility of the Nominating Committee to nominate members to keep the Council positions filled for the smooth functioning of ACP. The committee is made up of members from all three worship congregations in an effort to know as many members of ACP as possible. As ACP is a highly transient community, it is not always easy to know everyone. The Nominating Committee invites the congregation to submit names of persons they believe to be willing to serve. The Committee also invites members with leadership skills to step forward. The Nominating Committee will discern which position would be best filled by the members’ names brought forward.

Who is on the Nominating Committee?
Mark Primmer [Co-Chair], Marie Grout [Co-Chair], Rose Burke, Glosefina Francisco, Dominique Grelet, Christopher Wobo, and Pastor Scott Herr.

For information on council positions, or wishing to offer your leadership skills, please contact Mark Primmer, mark.primmer@gmail.com, or Marie Grout, lafamillegrou@gmail.com, or another member of the Nominating Committee.

Each one should use whatever gift he has received to serve others, faithfully administering God’s grace in its various forms. 1 Peter 4:10

ACP Spire, December 2016/January 2017 15
Five years after… Then and now at the Rafiki Village in Uganda

By ACP missionary Patti Lafage

Uganda is a developing country, so what “developments” can be noticed here at Rafiki and in the Kampala area?

The 15-kilometer stretch of road linking us to Kampala City, then a pot-holed tarmac with chunks missing due to consistent flooding, is now a smooth, wide Chinese-built highway. There are no white lines yet, so it varies between two and five lanes, plenty to accommodate buses, huge trucks, taxi vans, motorcycle taxis, cars, wheelbarrows, pedestrians, as well as the occasional cow or goat.

Entire hillsides that were bare five years ago are now covered with new homes. In town, dozens of luxury apartment complexes are putting up For Rent signs. In our immediate neighborhood, peasants continue to make bricks, by hand, on the property they own or squat in order to build a simple two-room, metal roofed dwelling.

New multiplex cinemas have opened their doors in the new shopping malls. TV satellite dishes serving up world sports and loud, violent Nigerian movies have appeared on dozens of local roofs. There’s an online app to order food delivered from 130 restaurants. Our neighbors continue to dig in their gardens to produce potatoes, corn, cassava, pumpkins, and greens, in order to have food to eat. Uber is starting up; our neighbors walk or catch a ride on an ancient crowded taxi van.

Huge, shiny 4-wheel-drive vehicles wait in traffic jams. Raggedy street children dodge traffic to frantically scoop up handfuls of dried beans from a torn sack fallen from a truck.

Our Rafiki children are developing as well. Our youngest turned 10 this year. The older ones are looking at colleges for 2018. All grow daily, physically and spiritually, praise God! What will their world be like five or 15 years from now? We pray that they will be Godly contributors to a better Uganda.
What is the FACCP and why does it exist?

By Pamela Bohl

In recent months you may have heard the name Franco American Community Center of Paris or FACCP used in conjunction with activities in and around the ACP. The French government, desiring to maintain a separation of church and state, provides for two types of non-profit organizations or associations. The first type is the “culturelle (cultural) association” the laws of which were established in 1901. Then in 1905 the French government created another type of non-profit “cultuelle (religious) association” which was conceived specifically for churches and other religious organizations and, as such, is subject to a narrowly defined sphere of operations.

The ACP is a 1905 (religious) association that serves the needs of the strictly defined “religious” activities of our church. Over the years, our missions have broadened to include not expressly religious organizations as well as organizations that are outside the territory of France, which was not anticipated by the laws of 1905 associations.

Additionally, our funding needs to maintain the beautiful, historical ACP facilities have grown much more significantly than our sources of funds from members and friends of the church. Over time the sources of funds have evolved to include events like Bloom Where You’re Planted, the Marché de Noël, and the Christmas and Habitat Concerts. Plus, a significant portion of ACP’s funding comes from rental income. All of these developments are positive and they contribute not only enrichment in our outreach to the congregation and the community of Paris but also important funding for our building, religious programs and missions.

Unfortunately, the 1905 law for religious organizations did not envisage nor does it allow religious organizations this degree of diversion from strict receipt of congregational gifts for funding the limited religious activities to the local congregation and within France.

The Franco American Community Center (FACCP), a 1901 “cultural association” was formed in 1996 to receive donations from corporate donors, but it was eventually allowed to go dormant. In recent years, however, ACP’s financial auditors and legal advisors have suggested to our leadership that we revive this 1901 association and transfer ACP’s activities that are more compatible with the laws of a 1901 association to the FACCP.

Late in 2015, the Council voted to follow through with this advice and took action to revive the FACCP. Since that time, the officers of FACCP and the ACP finance committee have been working to organize the financial and administrative aspects of this change. While it is not an easy process, it is considered necessary to ensure that the ACP fully complies with the 1905 association laws and does not jeopardize its status as a religious association in France.

What does this mean for our members, friends and the public that enter the ACP on a regular basis? Not much will change. For tenants renting space in the building there might be a change in the name of the lessor from ACP to FACCP. For some functions, tickets might be sold by the FACCP instead of the ACP. And some of the missions we fund may receive a check from the FACCP whereas they formerly received a check from the ACP.

As Pierre Lisbonis, who has spent much time on this transition has said, “The FACCP is really like a trailer that follows along directly behind the ACP and carries out certain of the functions previously handled by the ACP.” If you have any questions about the FACCP feel free to contact, Pierre, Julia Kung, or Pam Bohl. Any of us will be happy to discuss it with you.
Remember Pearl Harbor

By Charlie Gay

For any American alive on 7 December 1941, when a swarm of 360 Japanese planes attacked Pearl Harbor, memories of “a date which will live in infamy” remain vivid.

The day is like a few others in history that immediately trigger an American’s thoughts about where he or she was during a stunning event, like those of 22 November 1963, 20 July 1969 or 11 September 2001.

Early on that Sunday afternoon in 1941, 5-year-old Tad Brown (now a member of the American Church in Paris) was sitting at the controls of an open-top, double-cockpit plane on the grounds of the Grumman Aircraft Company in Bethpage, Long Island, New York. He had just been hoisted into the cockpit at a company open house. His father, a tool engineer essential to the defense industry, had been hired by Grumman to help build airplanes.

“I was hardly seated when sirens began and there was a call on a loudspeaker for all to leave the premises as quickly as possible!” he said. The thousands of people roaming the grounds, including his family, learned that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor moments earlier, shortly before 8h00 Hawaii time. “All the cars headed for the gates,” he explained, “and we made our way home to Farmingdale, Long Island.”

The surprise attack killed 2,403 people and crippled the US Pacific Fleet when five of eight battleships, three destroyers and seven other ships were sunk or severely damaged and more than 200 aircraft were destroyed. As fate would have it, all three of the fleet’s aircraft carriers were out to sea on training maneuvers, and six months later they would exact a measure of revenge on the Japanese at the Battle of Midway, called by military historian John Keegan “the most stunning and decisive blow in the history of naval warfare.”

At the time of the attack on the U.S. Territory of Hawaii, there had been wars and rumors of wars for years. Paris had already been occupied by the Germans for 18 months. Japan had been at war with China for more than four years and was attempting to dominate Asia and the Pacific.

The US declared war on Japan the day after the surprise attack and on Germany three days later. The war in the Pacific would last for nearly four years until two atomic bombs brought Japan to its knees in August 1945. The war against Hitler’s Germany had ended that spring 11 months after the D-Day invasion of Normandy.

Officials at Pearl Harbor are planning 10 days of public and private events surrounding the 75th anniversary, including a symposium; premiere of a documentary film, Remember Pearl Harbor; presentation of “Fighting Two Wars,” a tribute to Japanese-American veterans; “Beneath Pearl Harbor,” a program about the submerged USS Arizona; several concerts and separate ceremonies for the USS Utah, USS Oklahoma and USS Nevada. Nine events on December 7 will range from the National Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day Commemoration to a Pearl Harbor Memorial Parade.

The National World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C., has scheduled the Pearl Harbor 75th Anniversary Commemoration at 12h53 on 7 December, the exact time of the attack. That event will kick off a 4-year World War II 75th Anniversary Commemoration highlighted by more than 60 ceremonies marking such things as battle anniversaries and honoring veterans of the war. On the evening of December 6, the Friends of the National World War II Memorial will host a candlelight vigil at the memorial where the names of each of the 2,403 men and women killed at Pearl Harbor will be read over the course of three hours.
ACP prison ministries

Update from our missionary in the prisons of Ghana

The Word of God is being preached and taught in six prisons in Ghana, thanks to our missionary Anna Cobbinah and her team, of The Living Truth Foundation Ministries. The six Bible study classes that were inaugurated last spring with a total of 97 inmates, are going very well, and will reach completion this spring.

Anna is reaching out for donations to be able to give a bar of soap to all the prisoners in the prisons that her ministry is serving — over 6,000 men! — as concrete evidence of the Lord’s love for them, and to make their Christmas a little more joyful. A bar of soap only costs 25 cents in Ghana, so a donation of any amount will go a long way to help meet her goal!

Also, she is already starting to plan for the next graduation ceremonies this spring for the 2016/17 Bible study programs, and the inaugurations for the 2017/18 programs. These are celebrations with music by the prison bands and choirs, dancing and preaching, with communion served, and a meal distributed to all participants that Anna and her daughters prepare themselves. The Holy Spirit is there!

If you would like to donate to either of these events, please make your check out to The American Church in Paris, with a note that it is for the Ghana prison ministry. All donations in euros are tax deductible in France.

For more information on Mission Outreach Committee activities or how to support Anna Cobbinah, please contact us at missionoutreach@acparis.org.

Paris prison ministry

Introduction to French prisons

By Carolyn Bouazouni

A (very!) brief course to understand the different types of prisons here in France, so you can follow our prison ministry:

Maison d’arrêt: This is the first stop for men and women entering into the French prison system. These people have been stopped by the police, but have not yet gone to trial or been sentenced. They may remain at the Maison d’Arrêt through the trial and sentencing process, and even to serve sentences that are short-term (generally less than 2 years). There are a number of these prisons around Paris.

Centre de Détention: This is for inmates with short to medium-term sentences, generally from 4 months to 5 years. There is one dedicated Detention Center in the Paris Division, located at Melun.

Maison Centrale: This is a prison for inmates receiving long-term sentences, up to and including life sentences. There is only one dedicated Maison Centrale in the Paris area, which is at Poissy.

Etablissement Pénitentiaire pour Mineurs: This is a prison dedicated to those under the age of 18. In the Paris area, there is one dedicated prison for minors, located in Porcheville.

Centre Pénitentiaire: This is a center that has multiple functions, and may include all of the above categories of prisons as well as an Evaluation Center and a prison hospital. In the Paris area there are two of these centers, located at Fresnes and Reau. The only prison hospital around Paris solely for inmates is at the Fresnes prison.

ACP members are currently attending and assisting at worship services in three of the Paris-area prisons: the Fleury-Mérogis Maison d’Arrêt Femmes (for women), the Poissy Maison Centrale, and the Fresnes Centre Pénitentiaire. More opportunities will be opening up in the coming months as we continue to work with the French Protestant Chaplains to discern where we can be of service. The head Protestant Chaplain for the Paris Division will be coming to the ACP in early 2017 to address the congregation and answer questions. Please continue to pray for this ministry as we seek to bring the light of Christ into the prisons around Paris.
French language classes

French classes are held on (most) Saturdays at ACP, from 17h to 18h30. They are taught by two native French speakers, Francois and Yasmina.

The class is intended for beginners who are committed to learning French. In addition to class attendance, personal effort and engagement are required. Attendance is limited to 20. The sign-up fee is €30, and a book purchase is necessary. There is no age or nationality restriction.

If you are here for several years, or if you want to obtain working papers, a knowledge of French will be required. Think of shopping, visits to City Hall or the Prefecture, hospitals, schooling for your children, employment.

We cannot stress too much that learning a new language requires significant work. There is no such thing as “French made easy.” Therefore, consider carefully if you are ready to make that commitment. Weekly attendance is a requirement and ongoing progress is expected.

If you are interested, send your personal data (name, address, phone, nationality) to fkpierre@gmail.com.

Recently I headed over to the Musée de Luxembourg to see “Fantin-Latour, A fleur de peau”, the first retrospective dedicated to the artist since the 1980’s, and it is a treat. Known for his grand group paintings, he was also an accomplished portraitist with a penchant for still-lifes.

The exhibit is laid out in chronological order, beginning with a series of self-portraits. The accompanying text speaks to Fantin’s loneliness, his unhappiness and the fact that he was never satisfied. Indeed, he depicts himself as a troubled man, but in a style clearly influenced by Rembrandt and Delacroix.

Early in his career, Fantin found fault with his models, and lost patience with them. At the same time, he was much opposed to the Impressionists who took their canvases outdoors. In some ways both factors may help explain why he turned his hand to still life. The exhibit includes a significant presentation of this body of work. The compositions are fairly standard: flowers in a clear vase (allowing the artist to paint the reflection visible on the glass), a smattering of fruit and various pieces of crockery. He successfully depicts the passage of time through gently wilting flowers and fallen petals.

Fantin also produced numerous tributes to other artists and métiers. His group paintings honor Delacroix and Manet as well as music, poetry and other subjects. He was a great admirer of composers including Berlioz, Wagner and Schumann. The exhibit includes a series of lithographs depicting scenes from Tannhauser, Lohengrin and the Ring series. The images, which are ethereal and otherworldly, are perhaps indicative of his final focus: imaginary painting. Whether his inspiration came from mythology, allegory or reverie, it is evident he drew on his large photography collection of female nudes for poses, shape and shadows. (This is the first time these photos are displayed in this way to the public). These paintings have a dreamy; “vaporous” quality, and apparently were quite popular at the time.

Fantin was finally recognized for his long and varied career when he was awarded the Légion d’Honneur in 1900, just 4 years before his death.

“Fantin-Latour, A fleur de peau”, until 12 February, Musée de Luxembourg
What’s going on? Tune in: ACP Today

Have you tuned in to ACP Today, the American Church in Paris’ radio show yet? Join us on Mondays at 20h45 – this month on 2 and 16 January. The 45-minute program is an exciting and inspiring mix of music, interviews, sermon highlights, and discussion on hot topics.

We’re at 100.7 FM, Radio Fréquence Protestante, and we broadcast especially for friends who may be housebound or who would simply like more devotional time on a Monday evening. Don’t like the radio? Listen online at http://frequenceprotestante.com or tune in at your leisure via the ACP website.

Friends and visitors, what better way to keep in touch with the ACP family and learn about the latest ACP news? All our shows are downloaded within 48 hours to our website, at www.acparis.org/acptoday. Faith Talk from Paris – it’s a kind of souvenir that never gets old.

If you have any questions, comments, ideas or would like to contribute to the show, be sure to contact us at acptoday@acparis.org.

ACP Café

13 January, 19h30- 21h30 in the Theater. Still Point hosts a live concert of new songs, jazz standards, and covers. Free entry. Invite your friends and neighbors!

Congratulations!

We have reached our fundraising goal for the Disabled Access project and are delighted that ACP will be accessible to all! The project has now moved on to a critical phase: procuring building permits.

Although you will not see actual construction for many months, know that behind the scenes, the Property Committee is working hard to receive official authorization to start the work from the relevant government agencies (5 in all!). We will keep you updated on our progress.
